“Is Your Contract a Suit of Armor or a Speedo”

Auditorium - 10:30 am – 11:20 am

Make sure your contracts are more than the bare minimum. In this class we will discuss provisions you can add to your contracts to make them more protective of the good reputation and business you have worked so hard to establish. We will also discuss how to use your contract as talking points to make sure you manage expectations, preserve relationships, and protect your profits.

Nathan K. Fisher has been practicing law in Southern Utah since 1997. He concentrates his practice in the areas of personal injury, construction law, commercial real estate and real estate development.

Nathan received a bachelor degree in business management from Brigham Young University. He received his Juris Doctor degree from the J. Reuben Clark Law School, where he graduated Cum Laude in the top twenty percent of his class. He began his legal career with a small litigation firm in Provo, Utah, where he developed a civil litigation practice.

Nathan is admitted to the United States District Court, District of Utah and District of Nevada. He is currently a Judge Pro Tempore in the Fifth Judicial District, Small Claims Court in St. George, Utah. Nathan has also acted as a mediator and arbitrator in several matters.

Mr. Fisher is a member of the Utah State Bar, the Southern Utah Bar Association and the State Bar of Nevada. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Southern Utah Home Builders Association where he presents seminars that include Utah and Nevada mechanics lien laws, and collecting unpaid services.

David W Hunter earned his bachelor degree in business administration from Southern Utah University and his Juris Doctor degree from California Western School of Law. After practicing in San Diego, David decided it was time to come home to Southern Utah.

His practice areas include commercial litigation and estate planning. His commercial litigation practice includes, construction defect defense, construction law, mechanic's liens, contract litigation, collections law, civil litigation, general real estate, real estate development, real estate disputes, real estate transactions, real estate foreclosures, banking, arbitrations and mediations. His estate planning practice includes asset protection, and helping clients design and implement wills, revocable trusts, irrevocable trusts (insurance trusts (ILITs), intentionally defective grantor trusts (IDGTs), charitable remainder and lead trusts (CRTs and CLTs), powers of attorney, health care directives, and other estate planning documents.

Mr. Hunter also assists clients with trust and estate administration and probate. He is member of the State Bar of Utah, Nevada and Arizona and is licensed to practice in the United States District Court for the District of Utah, Nevada and Arizona.
